It seems probable that the many branches of the Sinsabaugh-Sensabaugh-Sincerbeaux-Sincerbox families living in the United States today are all descended from an emigrant or emigrants who came to the New World in the early 1700s from that section of Germany along the Rhine River known as the Palatinate.

The name, which appears most often in early American records as Sensebach or Sensenbach, is most likely derived from the town of Ober-Sensbach, 30 kilometers northeast of Heidelberg in Kreis Erbach, the old Hessian province of Starkenberg.

The earliest known record of the family in America is found on Staten Island, where, on May 11, 1729, Altje (Alice), the daughter of Hans Philip and Jule Catharina Pikkerling Simsenbach, was baptized at the Reformed Church of Staten Island, at Port Richmond.

This couple had other children baptized at the Port Richmond Church, and their names appear in the church records until 1739. They apparently moved about 1740 to Montgomery, in Ulster (now Orange) County, New York, where other members of the family had been as early as 1735. Philip Sensbach was admitted to the Montgomery Reformed Church on September 7, 1742, and his wife, Julianna Catherine Bikkerling, on May 22, 1744.

She apparently died shortly thereafter, and Philip evidently was married again to Maria Catherine Slemmer, for on August 12, 1746, their daughter, Elizabeth, was baptized at Montgomery. Maria was possibly the daughter of Matthias and Anna Veronica (Bush) Slemmer, born May 21, 1714, at Kingston, New York, and married first to Heronymous Keller in 1733.

Either Philip or a son of the same name was naturalized as a citizen of New York on October 18, 1750, as "Philippus Sensebach, farmer, of Ulster County."

Philip and Maria were sponsors for a baptism in 1759, the last time his name appears in the Montgomery Church records.

Research in Germany has yielded the name of Hans Philip Sensbach, one of several children of Hans and Margaretha (Herbolt) Sensbach, who was baptized August 13, 1682, at the Evangelical Parsonage at Haag, Kreis Heidelberg. Hans, the father, was an attorney of Ober-Schonbrunn, a small town near Haag.

This would appear to be too early for the birthdate of the American emigrant, who was apparently fathering children in 1746, when he would have been 64 years old. The secret of the family's European origin, however, undoubtedly lies in some musty church records somewhere nearby.

Several other members of the family appear in the Montgomery records during the 1730s. Jacob Sinsabach was naturalized in October, 1735, with other early Montgomery residents. Frederick Sinsabaugh purchased land at Montgomery in 1735, and is listed among the arms-bearing residents in 1738. He was naturalized between June, 1740, and June, 1741, and his name then disappears from the records. Christian Sensebach was admitted to the Montgomery Reformed Church in April, 1738, and was naturalized with Frederick between 1740 and 1741.

Nothing further is known of Frederick or Christian, who may have been brothers of Phillip. Jacob apparently moved to Pennsylvania, where a Jacob Sensenbach owned land in 1736 in Northampton County. He later owned property in Berks County, at Heidelberg, and he is probably the ancestor of the numerous Sensabaugh families of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Tennessee and Virginia.

The Sinsabaugh, Sincerbox and Sincerbeaux families of New York State are probably all descended from Philip.

Jacob Sinsabaugh (Philip[1]) was listed with his sister, Magdalena, among the first members of the Montgomery Reformed Church. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Henry and Julia (Edschel) Christ. He was a deacon of the church in 1759, and an elder in 1772. He signed the Association Pledge in 1775, although probably too old for military service. His children were:

Henry	Born (ca)	1749	Married Margaret Felton

Adam Sinsabaugh (Philip[1]) was admitted to the Montgomery Reformed Church on May 23, 1749, and was married about that time to Anna Veronica Youngblood, daughter of Johannes and Anna Maria (Kafferout) Youngblood. He served for many years as an elder of the church, and is buried in the ancient cemetery beside the present church. His grave has been marked by the DAR as a veteran of the Revolution. He died February 17, 1788, and his will, dated September 1, 1785, and proved May 16, 1788, divided most of his property between his two sons, David and Johannes. His children were:

Johannes Adam	Born	April 5, 1750	Married Rachel Decker
Mary	Baptized	Jan. 29, 1752	Married William Bookstaver
Philip	Baptized	March 17, 1754

Elizabeth	Baptized	Nov. 4, 1769	Married Martin Rota ?

Johan Theunis Sinsabaugh (Philip[1]) was born about 1725, and was admitted to the Montgomery Reformed Church on May 27, 1745. He took the oath of allegiance to Great Britain in Ulster County on October 20, 1747. He married Sophia Seger, who was admitted to the Montgomery Church on October 14, 1764, as his wife. His only known children were:

Henry Born April 30, 1763
Elias Born July 4, 1772 Married Hannah Bodine?

Philip Sinsabaugh (Philip[1]) was born about 1727, and was probably the Philip Zinzeback who married Anna Christina Tice on August 8, 1755, at the Lutheran parsonage in New York City "upon certificate from the Walkill." He was living at Peekman, in Dutchess County, New York, by 1764, working the farm of Hans George Kuhns. He died in April or May, 1731, leaving a widow, Margaret, who may have been a daughter of Kuhns, and two children.

Eve
Andrew Born (ca) 1765 Married Ruth Draper

Christopher Sinsabaugh (Philip[1]) was baptized September 5, 1731, at the Reformed Church at Port Richmond, Staten Island. He married Anna Catherine Weber at Montgomery by 1751, and died there in May, 1799. His children were:

Catherine	Baptized	Oct. 15, 1751	Married John Joseph Krans
Frederick	Baptized	Oct. 23, 1753	Married Elizabeth Suss
Anna Maria	Baptized	May 15, 1756	Married John Shulp

Henry Sinsabaugh (Philip[1] Jacob[2]) was born about 1749. He was admitted to the Montgomery Church on October 12, 1771. He served in the Revolutionary Army in Captain Matthias Felter's regiment. He married Margaret Felton on March 6, 1779. He died about 1790, leaving an estate which was insufficient to cover his debts. Children:

Catherine Baptized April 16, 1780 Married John Slott?
Elizabeth Baptized May 12, 17?? Married Peter Tice?
Mary Born March 7, 17??

Jacob Sinsabaugh (Philip[1] Jacob[2]) was baptized October 23, 1753, and was admitted to the Montgomery Reformed Church on December 4, 1772. He served in the Revolutionary Army under Captain Isaiah Veail, and was stationed at Fort Montgomery with Colonel Jonathan Hasbrouck's regiment. He married Margaret Phillips, who appears in the 1790 census with one son and three daughters. Jacob evidently died before that time. Their children were:

Jacob Born (ca) 1792 Lived in Indiana Co., Penn.
William Born Feb. 6, 1795
Others, names unknown

Christian Sinsabaugh (Philip[1] Jacob[2]) was baptized August 28, 1758, and was admitted to the Montgomery Church in 1738. He married Jane Hammond. He served in the Ulster County Militia during the Revolution. He is listed in the 1790 census as Christian Sinsabaugh Junior, evidently to distinguish him from his uncle Christopher. He died sometime after 1810, when his name was listed in the federal census. His children were:

Jacob Born March 13, 1787 Married Catherine Stahl
Maria Born Feb. 5, 1788
Elizabeth Born Jan. 25, 1790 Married Jesse Lounsbury?
William Born July 24, 1792 Married Tempy Alsdorf

Others, names unknown

William Sinsabaugh (Philip[1] Jacob[2]) was baptized February 4, 1761, and served during the Revolution under Captain Matthias Felter in Colonel McClaghrey's regiment. No further records.

Johannes A. Sinsabaugh (Philip[1] Adam[2]) was born April 5, 1750, and was admitted to the Montgomery Church on November 4, 1769. He married Rachel Decker on March 8, 1774. She was the daughter of Jacob and Eve (Bookstaver) Decker, and was born on January, 1758. He died June 12, 1837, and Rachel, February 10, 1836. Both are buried in the Old Brick Church Cemetery, Montgomery. Their children were:

Maria Born March 15, 1775 Married John Terwilliger

David Sinsabaugh (Philip[1] Adam[2]) was baptized October 18, 1766. He appears unmarried in the 1790 census, but was married by 1795, when his wife and son were baptized in the New Windsor Presbyterian Church, not far from Montgomery. He died in the summer of 1796, and his widow remarried. In 1820, she was called Hanna Ferris. Her maiden name is unknown. There was only one child.

Ira Baptized Oct. 3, 1795 Died unmarried in 1819/20

Elias Sinsabaugh (Philip[1] Johan Theunis[2]) was born July 4, 1772. He appears in the 1800 census at Montgomery, and in 1810 at nearby Goshen. By 1824, he had moved with his wife, Hannah Bodine, to Cobleskill, in Schoharie County, New York, where he died about 1840. His widow moved with their son, George, to Troy, New York, where she died on November 25, 1855. Children:

Frederick Sinsabaugh (Philip[1] Christopher[2]) was baptized October28, 1753, at the Montgomery Reformed Church. He was married there April 8, 1773, to Elizabeth Suss. He served in the Revolutionary Army, and died in 1736, leaving his widow with seven children, one an infant and the oldest 13. Relatives apparently reared most of the children, for the widow appears in the 1790 census with one child. Children:

John	Born Dec. 26, 1773	Married Anna

After the war, he went to Northhampton County, Pennsylvania, and was in business for a time at Nazareth. He married Margaret Brown on May 17, 1789. She was born October 6, 1768, the daughter and fourteenth child of John Adam Brown of Easton, Pennsylvania. Henry returned with his wife to Montgomery in the late 1790s, and he died there on June 3, 1826. His wife died September 21, 1842, and is buried at Slate Hill Cemetery in Goshen. (Local histories have incorrectly given Henry's father as Frederick). Children:
